7. Discussion Regarding Beer Permits Automatically Revoked For Failure To Pay Privilege Tax

Revenue Management

City Staff and Aldermen spoke on the current ordinance which calls for revocation of beer permits if licensees do not pay their beer privilege tax by January 1 each calendar year. City Staff spoke on several businesses in Franklin that did not pay the privilege tax for 2022. As per the current ordinance, the beer permit for these businesses is revoked for the calendar year. City Staff believe while there needs to be a penalty for not paying the privilege tax by January 1, revoking the beer permit for the entire calendar year will harm the business.

Aldermen spoke on different ways to implement a penalty that was not as harsh as the current ordinance. Aldermen spoke on ideas of a grace period from January 1 to February 1 for businesses then revoking the permit until the tax is paid as well as a daily penalty. Once the tax and penalty are paid off, the business would be allowed to serve beer again.

Aldermen discussed the idea of having a special meeting for updating this ordinance so these businesses that have paid but are unable to serve beer can receive their revoked licenses back in a shorter timeframe than mid-October.

City Staff will begin drafting an ordinance on this item.

This item will be on the September 13, 2022 Board of Mayor and Aldermen Work Session for a full-board discussion.
